Cow

Did you know that a cow produces about 300,000 glasses of milk in its lifetime? Milk is an excellent source of calcium and other vitamins and minerals. The gift of a cow will give a needy family fresh milk every day. Or, they can sell the milk to buy other things they need. If they receive a beef cow, they can start a small herd to help support their family.

Pigs

Because they eat almost anything, the cost of feeding a pig is very small. Pigs also grow fast. At birth, piglets weigh two to three pounds, but by the age of six months, they can weigh 275 pounds! You can give a pig to a family in Liberia or Haiti. They can raise the pig for meat or sell it for a profit.

| 01 | One pig | $65 |
| 01 | Two pigs | $130 |

“In Haiti, we require the recipient of the animal to give the first female offspring back to the ‘project.’ That offspring is then given out to other needy people in the church who in turn do the same thing. Basically the project never stops as long as there is continued oversight and the animals continue to be distributed to new recipients.”

—Jeriah Mast, CAM staff in Haiti

Chickens

Chickens are a helpful source of food or income for struggling families. They don’t require much land or feed. The eggs they produce are full of protein, and the meat is nutritious and low in sodium. With your help, a family can have fresh, nutritious eggs each morning for breakfast!

| 02 | One chicken and sack of feed | $10 |
| 02 | A flock of 10 chickens | $40 |
Water Buffalo and Beef Cows

Both water buffalo and beef cows provide a good source of income for poor families in Egypt. A water buffalo’s milk is rich in fat and protein and provides important nutrition. It is also a strong animal that people use to do farm work. When a family receives a beef cow from CAM, they feed it for a year, butcher it, and then sell the meat. They agree to use the profit to buy another cow, which means your gift keeps giving!

- 03 One beef cow or water buffalo $900
- 03 Share the cost $450
“When I received your gift catalog, I looked through and when I saw the gift of goats, I thought, I have a goat I can’t use. It would be nice if I could just send it. Then I had a prayer thought: Lord, if I send the goat to auction and it sells for $130, I will give the gift of two goats. The goat sold for $135! Thanks be to God.”
—FROM A SUPPORTER

Goat

Goats are found almost anywhere in the world and can thrive in harsh conditions. Since they are herbivores, they eat almost anything that grows. This makes them easy to raise in places like Haiti and Liberia. In many countries, goat meat is a common food and so is goat milk.

Honeybees

Honeybees are a great source of income for people with a small amount of land. Since bees find their own food, beekeepers don’t have to spend money on feed like they do for other animals. Other than the start-up costs, beekeeping is an inexpensive way for an impoverished family to support themselves. They can sell the honey and the wax and use the profits to buy food, clothing, and other things they need.

Family-Self-Support

Families in developing countries are often hardworking and want to provide for themselves, but they lack material resources. A gift of construction tools, fishing nets, farm equipment, a plot of land, or a horse and wagon can give someone the chance to start a small family business and earn a living. Your gift may be all it takes to move them from poverty to productivity.

Winters in Eastern Europe can be bitterly cold. The gift of a chainsaw helps families provide firewood for themselves and their neighbors. Getting through the winter is much easier when you have a warm, cozy house.

Greenhouse Kit

Cristian (pictured) received funds from CAM to put up two greenhouses. His business grew, and he now has five greenhouses! This provides work for his family of 13 children and generates enough income to provide for their needs.

Greenhouses are a popular item in Eastern Europe and provide a good source of income for struggling families. In many cases, all they need is the funds to get started.

Grow-A-Tree
to help reforest Haiti

Trees are needed to hold topsoil when it rains so crops and vegetation can grow. When too many trees are cut down, land becomes barren. That’s what happened in Haiti. Much of the land has been deforested, causing the topsoil to wash away. Your gift of a tree can help reforest Haiti. Fruit trees also provide delicious fruit and income for families.

Garden/Agricultural tools

In some countries, gardens and crops are the main ways people produce food and an income. Most use hand tools to work the hard ground, but even basic tools are unaffordable for many families. For $30, you can give a set of new tools to someone and make it a little easier for them to grow food. Tools may include a hoe, pick, shovel, machete, ax, or other items. Or, for $60, you can provide a wheelbarrow or hand cultivator.

The soil in Romania and Ukraine has tremendous potential to produce bountiful harvests. But many farmers don’t have the equipment needed to cultivate the soil. A Bible story book in my language

I am Elisa* from the country of Nicaragua. I live beside a large trash dump. I walk through the dump, looking for things like scrap metal and plastic bottles to sell. Then my family has money to buy food.

One evening, my friends and I were playing at the edge of the dump. Some men in a truck stopped where we were playing. We ran up to them, and they gave us shiny, new Bible story books. The book was written in Spanish, the language that I speak! I love to look at the nice pictures and read the stories about Noah and the ark, Daniel in the lions’ den, and Jesus as a baby. This book is a special treasure I never want to sell!

Bibles for people who have none

In some areas of India, where Hinduism is the primary religion, nine out of ten women cannot read or write. Our contacts use Bibles to teach some of these girls to read. So, it’s possible that the first words these girls read are the most important words of all. In fact, entire tribes and villages are hearing the Gospel for the first time!

CAM provides money for Bibles for people in India and other countries. For just $2.50, you can provide a Bible for someone who doesn’t have one.

Help a refugee family

My name is Hadiya,* and I am four years old. I live in a small house in Jordan with my parents and eight siblings. We used to live in Syria where my family had a nice house and plenty of food. But when the fighting made our country unsafe, we fled to Jordan. Life is different now. We have very little.

At first, we slept on a rug on the hard tile floor and didn't have much food to eat. Then some kind people brought us things we really needed! They carried blankets, pillows, mattresses, and a floor mat into our house. Now we don't have to sleep on the hard floor anymore!

But that wasn't all—they also gave us a small cook stove and a box of food. They said they would bring us food each month. Mom is so happy to know she will have food to cook for her family.

Before they left, these people gave us some teddy bears to play with. I will always remember our friends who were so kind to us.

Walkers and wheelchairs

Eleven-year-old Alia* from a Palestinian village was born with cerebral palsy that affected her legs. Sometimes when she walks, her legs get tangled up and cause her to fall. One day CAM staff arrived at Alia’s school with a walker for her. Alia was all smiles. She whispered to the staff, “When I try to walk by myself, I fall down a lot. Now with this walker, I think I can walk normally!”

Your gift of a walker or wheelchair can change the life of a disabled person.

Help with a medical emergency

“A miracle from God!”

Hi! My name is Emilson. I live in Nicaragua, a country in Central America. Life has been really hard for my family. A few years ago, my dad had an accident when he was harvesting sugarcane. His hip bone became infected. Soon he couldn’t walk or work anymore. He spent most of his time in bed.

Dad went to see a doctor, but the doctor yelled at my dad and said he wouldn’t fix his leg, because we didn’t have money. My dad thought he would never be able to walk again. Everyone in my family was sad. How would we survive? How would we get food to eat if my dad can’t work?

But then we met a kind doctor. This doctor was different. He was a Christian and wanted to help us. He told us about Christian Aid Ministries and their program to help pay medical expenses.

Sure enough, CAM was willing to help us. My dad was able to have surgery, and now he is getting better! He can even walk again. The doctor says he will one day be able to work again. We are excited. My dad says this is a miracle from God!

It’s 7:00 in the morning, and six-year-old Engel has just arrived at the Balm of Gilead Clinic with his mother. They came from the nearby town of Waslala, but many of the other patients walked several hours to get to the clinic. Before the clinic opens, the workers come out on the porch to have devotions with the patients. Engel listens as they sing songs and read from the Bible.

Finally it’s time for Engel to see the nurse. About ten days ago, an infection had broken out on his head, feet, and hands. His mother couldn’t afford to buy medicines, and the infection had grown worse. As Nurse Andrea cleans his sores, Engel cries in pain. But the free antibiotic she prescribes will help him heal quickly and put him out of his misery.

Shoes, soap, and more

Do you like getting a new pair of shoes? That’s fun, isn’t it? Did you know that many children around the world don’t even have one pair of shoes? What about soap? When you’re dirty, washing with soap usually helps, right? Soap is important, because it keeps us from getting sick.

In some countries, moms and dads don’t have money to buy these items. That’s why we are happy that companies in the United States donate lots of soap, shoes, and other valuable items for those who can’t afford it. For every $1 you donate, you can help CAM receive $115 worth of free products to send to those in need.

Hi. I am Sarah Teah, and I live in the country of Liberia. Because a kind person in America is sponsoring me, I go to a good Christian school. I love to play kickball at recess, and my favorite subject is English. When I grow up, I want to be a doctor. But that’s a long ways off since I’m only nine years old.

Every morning I wake up at 6:00 to get ready for school. I fetch water and heat it over a fire to take a bath. For breakfast, I drink some tea and eat a little bread. Then I walk 30 minutes to school. Here in Liberia, school ends at 1:00 in the afternoon. When I get home I am ready to eat a big bowl of rice and palava sauce!

Help people clean up after a disaster

In a daze, Teresa sorted through her mud-covered belongings—the craft her granddaughter had given her, the quilts her mother and grandmother had made, the soaked Bible that had been her comfort for many years. Her belongings had been ruined in a flood that raged through West Virginia in July 2016. When Rapid Response volunteers came to help Teresa clean up her home, she said, “I’ve felt depressed the last few days, but your smiling faces make me feel better!”

“"This $85.50 is from our four-year-old who earned money by doing jobs for us." –OH

“Our Sunday school had a special offering for Christmas. We managed to collect $65, and they all wanted to send a goat for a poor family.” –PA

“We decided to give to CAM for Christmas this year instead of giving big gifts to our five children. We left it up to them to pick what they wanted to give. Their ages range from 5 to 18.” –PA

“My Sunday school teacher gave me $5 and said to spend it wisely so I used it and over half of my birthday money to buy a chicken.” –12-year-old in OH
